

Cause and Effect Essay Conclusion Example

Climate change is not the result of a single action but the accumulation of choices made over decades. Rising temperatures, extreme weather, and ecosystem disruption all point to the same underlying trend. The causes are well documented, which means the responsibility for action is equally clear.

